DFC Consultants Listed as One of the Best Places to Work in the Northern Plains

The September issue of Prairie Business names and honors the 50 Best Places to Work in the northern Plains. For the fourth consecutive year, DFC Consultants has made the list.

Earlier this year, employees across the region nominated companies by submitting an anonymous employee-satisfaction survey, and Prairie Business used the survey results in selecting the 50 Best.

The survey sought input on each employer's benefits, workplace culture and employee morale, among other factors. Prairie Business received more than 1,000 nominations from employees from around the region.

"We're thrilled to be included again as one of the 50 Best Places to Work. DFC Consultants was built on the key principles of being honest, treating customers well, and empowering employees. We take pride that is recognized in the community and by our employees," said Carol Rogne, President/CEO, DFC Consultants.

Not only was DFC Consultants listed as a Best Place to Work by Prairie Business Magazine, they were also listed in Inc's Best Workplaces for 2017.
